

Can this part of the lens be removed without causing structural problems?

Small socket screws

